

Hard Parting

Floater

Rain was falling when I woke up today
Making liquid shadows on the walls
I watch you dreams flutter across your face
Why am I always going away?

All the chemicals in my brain
All this pleasure and all this pain
The meaning I seek in the end is coming back to you again

Hope nothing changes when I walk in the room

Hope no one sees the loneliness in my face
How can there be so much solitude
In such a crowded place?
All these chemicals in my brain
There is pleasure and all this pain
The meaning I seek in the end is coming back to you again