

In Transition

Floater

"I think you know what the problem is just as well as I do." [H
al9000 - 2001: A Space Odyssey]

In transition once again all is lost
In transition once again all is lost
All is lost

And all us drunk on misery watch us the new days dawns.
Our wine is only as good as the poetry it spawns
I've been hoping desperately you'd make your way down here and say hi.
Come down below.
Show me your face and show me your gray eyes.
Your gray eyes. Let me soak in your gray eyes.
Those gray eyes take me over.

In transistion once again all is lost
In transistion once again all is lost
All is lost

As the snake devours the egg it feels that all is gained.

All the sacred and the profane will be one again
My defenses are all shattered by one dagger thrown from those e yes.
Just say hello,
Give me a smile and show me your gray eyes,
Those gray eyes, Let me soak in your gray eyes.
Those gray eyes take me over

This is the death of the life that we know. This is us moving o n.
This suffering, I 've been told, is how we grow.
This is the death of the life that we know. This is us moving o n.
You told me so, but your eyes are changing
Till it's all gone away.
The storm is raging until it's all blown away by your eyes.
Those gray eyes, Let me soak in your gray eyes.
Those gray eyes, take me over.