

Lost Patience

Floater

You love the taste of wine more than the stars shine
You start feeling fine again while my heart is breaking
You tell me I'm a fool to love you like I do
You've lost your mind. I've lost my patience

Everything you've done while you were having fun
Everything you said is ringing in my head
No matter where you are you take it all too far

No matter what you do I won't be there for you

Then you discover lust and you break your lover's trust
Your gold begins to rust
This is the bed you're making
And then you tell me I'm a fool to love you like I do
You've lost your mind again
I've lost my patience