

Borderline

Florrie

I was right, there's only one of you
You dance through life to your own tune
You're beautiful and complicated too
A fancy room with a bad view

And I know that you know it's not easy
Fighting battles that live in your mind
But you're close to the edge, I can feel it
Every time that we say good night

You hide your feelings so I won't cry
But I'll keep waiting at the borderline
And when you're ready to change your mind
Then I'll be waiting at the borderline

You live your life like a firework
You soar right up 'til you're fit to burst
And here I am standing on the ground
My hands held high, I won't let you down

And I know that you know it's not easy
Fighting battles that live in your mind
But you're close to the edge, I can feel it
Every time that we say good night

You hide your feelings so I won't cry
But I'll keep waiting at the borderline
And when you're ready to change your mind
Then I'll be waiting at the borderline

In my head, in your head, it's a little bit mixed up
In my head it's a little bit quiet
Sometimes it's a little bit harder to fight

You hide your feelings so I won't cry
But I'll keep waiting at the borderline
And when you're ready to change your mind
Then I'll be waiting at the borderline
