

Looking for Love

Florrie

I took the roses while you begged for me to stay
I knew I was wrong, for holding on
Ever the optimist I thought that you might change
Oh was I so wrong, for holding on?

Pull back at the curtains again and it's pouring down
And I'm calling out for you
I'm so torn and it scares me to death but I'm running now
Yeah I'm running back for you

Am I looking for love in the wrong places?
I, I had it all but it went to waste
I've been tryna get out, now I see your face
Looking for love in the wrong place

Cause I've been stubborn, I've been hot-headed and cold
Oh you tell your stories, but that's just not me
I took the diamonds, I bought every word you sold
While you whispered softly how you adored me

Pull back at the curtains again and it's pouring down
And I'm calling out for you
I'm so torn and it scares me to death but I'm running now
Yeah I'm running back for you

Am I looking for love in the wrong places?
I, I had it all but it went to waste
I've been tryna get out, now I see your face
Looking for love in the wrong place

And I wonder if I ever really knew your heart?
Now I'm covering the battle scars
Cause it never rains, it pours
No it never really rains, it pours

So am I looking for love in the wrong places?
I, I had it all but it went to waste
I've been tryna get out, now I see your face
Looking for love in the wrong place

Am I looking for love in the wrong places?
I, I had it all but it went to waste
I've been tryna get out, now I see your face
Looking for love in the wrong place
