Willows

FLOYA

Hold up, let me look into your eyes again
I feel the tension in my shoulders as you look up
Doubts gone, let the moment take the both of us
You're like an undiscovered colour lighting up my life
A snapshot imprinted on my mind
Frozen in time, it felt divine, now I'm electrified

Swaying through the streets
Like willows in the wind
Shaking off the rain

And when I say my goodbyes
I hear your chimes in the night
When my mind's not alright
Oh I, I love that your melodies
Supersede all the noise in me

(I get) messed up when I think about the man I've been Self isolated, kind of jaded, stuck in a rut
Full stop, sweet denial in my coffee cup
I was surviving, barely trying until you showed up

Dancing to the beat
Of two hearts synchronised
Shaking off the pain

And when I say my goodbyes
I hear your chimes in the night
When my mind's not alright
Oh I, I love that your melodies
Supersede all the noise in me

How I have tried
Tried just to feel alive
I tried and tried
'Til you made me feel alright

Hold up, let me look into your eyes again
Doubts gone, let the moment take the both of us

Hold up, let me look into your eyes again
I feel the tension in my shoulders as you look up
Doubts gone, let the moment take the both of us
You're like an undiscovered colour lighting up my life

And when I say my goodbyes
I hear your chimes in the night
When my mind's not alright
Oh I, I love that your melodies
Supersede all the noise in me

How I have tried
Tried just to feel alive
I tried and tried
'Til you made me feel alright
