

Wonders

FLOYA

Have you ever wondered
How the waves restore their shape
Though they're crashing everyday
Undetected yet somehow ever present
Magically washing all these doubts away

I know it's hard to stay afloat
When your mind has tied you to the ground
I know your heart's stuck in your throat
When you try to open up your mouth

Now go all the way, all the way
'Til you've reached the point of no return
All the way without a trace of doubt inside your mind

Wide open skies breathing life into you
Let the fire in your eyes reignite mine too
And with the wind at your back you're bound to find
All the wonders of this life
Wide open skies breathing life into you
Life into you

Well you know there's little time
To create a mighty storm
Sweeping all of us away
In its eye we all transform
Into something greater than
What we've ever been before

I know it's hard to stay the course
When the sun seems nowhere to be found
I know you're so far from the shore
Might be time to turn this ship around

Now go all the way, all the way
'Til you've reached the point of no return
All the way without a trace of doubt inside your mind

Wide open skies breathing life into you
Let the fire in your eyes reignite mine too
And with the wind at your back you're bound to find
All the wonders of this life
Wide open skies breathing life into you
Into you

Breathing life into you
Breathing life into you
Breathing life into you
Into you