

Palaces

Flume

I thought beyond the exit there would be palaces
And so there were, composed within time, being here before
If outside is no more, the golden astroturf
The countdown to the big show, swimming in casinos