

Dawn

Flux Pavilion

Thinking about you when I close my eyes
I question the stars because they make a light
And outer space between us two subsides
And you stay awake until you see the sunrise

It take the light from the sky
It fits when you're gone
Oh, when you come back
It shines on you like the dawn

Thinking about you when I close my eyes
I question the stars because they make a light
And outer space between us two subsides
And you stay awake until you see the sunrise

It take the light from the sky
It fits when you're gone
Oh, when you come back
It shines on you like the dawn
