

No Choice

Fly By Midnight

I remember us alone
Tasting you like alcohol I know
(For me it was always you)
Madison and thirty four
Watched you close that yellow door and go

I should have said turn around, turn around, let's get back to it
I should have said I was wrong all along, I put you through it
I can't undo it

But I could call your phone just to hear your voice
I could drive to you, yeah, but what's the point
I still think of you cause I've got no choice
I still think of you cause I've got no choice
I could run away, but I won't get far
Meet somebody new, let her break my heart
I still think of you cause I've got no choice
I still think of you, I still think of you

I'm missing you in figure eight
Tears me down, it's way too late, I know
That you already moved on
You were gone before I knew it
Just to come back like a song
On and on in my head I can't lose it
I can't undo it

But I could call your phone just to hear your voice
I could drive to you, yeah, but what's the point
I still think of you cause I've got no choice
I still think of you cause I've got no choice
I could run away, but I won't get far
Meet somebody new, let her break my heart
I still think of you cause I've got no choice
I still think of you, I still think of you

No matter what I try to do I never get away from you
And even if I wanted to the only other choice is you

I could call your phone just to hear your voice
I could drive to you, yeah, but what's the point
I still think of you cause I've got no choice
I still think of you cause I've got no choice
I could run away, but I won't get far
Meet somebody new, let her break my heart
I still think of you cause I've got no choice
I still think of you, I still think of you
