

They Are Not So True

Foetus

You see them walking down the blackened boulevard
You give them half an inch and then they take a yard

They gotta melt me down
Into a substance blue
Before they realize that they are not so true

The jangling of chains is ringing in my ears
Their ignorance ain't gonna wash away my fears

They gotta melt me down
Into a substance blue
Before they realize that they are not so true

But if that presence coming
Makes you feel too tense
Don't let the anger boil
Keep keepin' up your fence

And nothin now can influence me so anew
They gotta melt me down into a substance blue
Before they realize that they are not so true

They are not so true
It ain't nothin' new
And I'm comin' thru
They are not so true
They are not so true
