

Push

Fog Lake

I don't wanna be alone right now
God, I wish it was a little bit later
Think I'd rather be asleep right now
Dream about some mistake I made

Tell me why I'm living so fast
I wish I was just a little bit younger
Then I wouldn't be afraid like this
Push it in just a little bit further

You were right, this never gets old
Waking up in another direction
If circumstance is all we get
Let's come back the way we came

I know it's a chemical thing
That's why I spend each day
Just trying to get my head on straight
Think I'll try just a little bit harder

Some people, they waste their time
While others just play to stay
I don't wanna do either of those things
I just wanna make it stop

And when I do, I'll hold it in Everything I wanted to say
So when my eyes roll right back
I won't remember anything

Well, tell me why it never made sense
I guess I figured out sooner than later
That love's just another kind of bliss
Someday you'll come to miss

Take a ride in the getaway car
Some call it another chance
But then they never wake up from it
They take it just a little bit further
