

Outbreak Of Heartache

For All Those Sleeping

We're all alone but something is in the air
You slide your hands around my waist
Only touch me if you dare
But everything is so right that something must be wrong
So let's stay in tonight please let me take you home
Everything is so right something must be wrong

Cross your fingers and close your lips
One taste and you'll be contagious
This is the outbreak of heartache
Our teen heat is so dangerous

We're all alone in your room don't be scared
I slide my hands down your waist
Will you trust me if I swear
That everything is so right that something must be wrong
So let's stay in tonight please let me take you home
Everything is so right something must be wrong

Cross your fingers and close your lips
One taste and you'll be contagious
This is the outbreak of heartache
Our teen heat is so dangerous

Run, I'll take you with me
Run, our love is deadly
Run, I hope you're ready

Cross your fingers and close your lips
One taste and you'll be contagious
This is the outbreak of heartache
Our teen heat is so dangerous

Everything is so right something must be wrong
