Until It Runs Out

For the Fallen Dreams

Don't take this from me It's all I have left You want me to crumble I will not beq Watch what you say I won't forget what you've said You're pitiful You are pitiful I won't let you take back what you've said Don't wait 'till this runs out Don't hate me cuz my life's figured out It's too late This has run out You're too late You are too late You said it was the heat of the moment I say it's just another excuse Take your words, throw them all away cuz what you say is just t rash to me Do I have to hear you all over again It's such bullshit Fed up with it You wonder why I never listen You always say it's gonna get better I think you're right because I'm leaving My mind's made up There's nothing you can say Save your lies for anyone but me I'll never stop feeling until all the blood in my veins runs ou t, letting My heart dry up, numbing the pain somehow I'll never stop believing that there is one person out there fo r us To stop the bleeding, and let our hearts keep beating I won't let you take back what you've said