

Tread Lightly

Forest Blakk

Tonight, you look lovely
It's your eyes that define me
It's enough to know you're taking
Enough to know you're taking my hand
Here we are, holding our breath
Where we stand, with our feet wet
And no matter where you're going
No matter where you're going, I'm in

And I will tread lightly
You're a bunch of broken pieces that might need
Some putting back together, so don't leave
'Cause I can make it better, tread lightly

Where there's light, you can find me
It's your heart that reminds me
To pull it all together
To pull it all together, we can
It's alright, you can try the words inside of your head
It's the hardest thing that I've ever said
And you could take forever
You could take forever yet

I will tread lightly
You're a bunch of broken pieces that might need
Some putting back together, so don't leave
'Cause I can make it better, tread lightly, tread lightly

Better believe it, that my heart's on my sleeve when I do
All that I'm needing, could you stand here with me and say "I do"

And tread lightly
There's a bunch of broken pieces inside me
From our beating hearts as they were colliding
Be gentle with me darling, tread lightly

Oh, I will tread lightly
You're a bunch of broken pieces that might need
Some putting back together, so don't leave
'Cause I can make it better, I can make it better
Baby, tread lightly
There's a bunch of broken pieces inside me
From our beating hearts as they were colliding
Be gentle with me darling, tread lightly
