

Broken Man

Fox Stevenson

From the tip of my nose my head goes
Yeah, I feel it start
I got lights in my soul, shade in my heart
This ain't me but it's close
That's my favorite part
It's so good, grab a cup and get your stupid on

Well the times they change
And we remain the same we always were
And if you're tired again
Ignore the pain and smile through the hurt
Oh no
It's all coming back again

And I don't wanna waste your time
Just tryin' to make you understand
Yeah, maybe I'm a broken man
But I still work
No, I don't wanna waste your time
Just trying to make you understand
Yeah, maybe I'm a broken man
But I still work

Yeah hello, I'm still here
Problems up to my neck
I've got friends in my phone
But I never connect
I'm expecting all less than a bravery check
Girl, why do I pretend

Well the times they change
And we remain the same we always were
And if you're tired again
Ignore the pain
It's coming back again

And I don't wanna waste your time
Just tryin' to make you understand
Yeah, maybe I'm a broken man
But I still work
No, I don't wanna waste your time
Just tryin' to make you understand
Yeah, maybe I'm a broken man
But I still work

And if life's just a game
I'd like to learn how to play
And if it's all the same
I'd like to do this again
And if life's just a game
I'd like to learn how to play
I'd like to try this again

And I don't wanna waste your time

But I still work
No, I don't wanna waste your time
Yeah, maybe I'm a broken man
But I still work

And if life's just a game
I gotta learn how to play
But I still work
