Born slippy, so look busy
Young scumbag got the keys to the city
I'm knee jerking, black coffee slurping
We're all screwed up with the world still turning
I hug my demons, I fist bump Jesus
I thank Poseidon for a sweet surf season
When I arrive it won't be pretty
From Moscow to the great Mississippi

So
I reckon in twenty one seconds
I'm about to blow this thing straight to the heavens
Still stressing, still second guessing
Paid my price but learned no lesson
So cold, my heavyweight soul
So weighed down by the things that I know
All told, I got too bold
Heart of gold
No, I do it like that

Like that
I do it like that
Like that

Space wizards, Hollywood blizzards
Cheating at cards with Illuminati lizards
From Indiana out to Valhalla
They know my name, cause nobody does it better, yeah
It's strange but I don't mind
I drive off the edge of the earth to kill time
The storms coming, you better get running
Wherever I am, I'm starting up something

I reckon in twenty one seconds
I'm about to blow this thing straight to the heavens
Still stressing, still second guessing
Paid my price but learned no lesson
So cold, my heavyweight soul
So weighed down by the things that I know
All told, I got too bold
Heart of gold
No, I do it like that

And if there are better days to come
I just hope to be there for some
And if there are better days to come
Who knows?

You gotta choose your battles
And make them mean something
Sing great songs, keep that heartbeat pumping
When all else fails and you can't let go

A tinfoil hat does more than you know

So cold, my heavyweight soul
So weighed down by the things that I know
All told, I got too bold
Heart of gold
No, I do it like that
