

YAS!

Fox Stevenson

The limit was never the goal, no
Inevitable was the fall, y'know?
You're not out here alone though just know
This isn't over

Like all the other times this will pass
Just be nice to yourself like YAS!
I know that this got out of hand
But we can't do shit so just relax

There you are
Slamming a fist on the table
Telling how this is more than you'll take
Under weight of the day or in the midst of a crisis of faith

You've abandoned attempts a controlling
Lash out for somebody who's safe
Requiring more than consoling
Hard times are the tempo these days

You know there's no way
That it's all part of a plan
Can't stop it all
Shit kinda just happens like that

But when surviving the day
Seems like an impossible task
If you need a friend you need only ask

Like all the other times this will pass
Just be nice to yourself like YAS!
I know that this got out of hand
But we can't do shit so just relax

Yeah, well
And the worst is it's not only you though
Everybody I know's been cut down
As a sign of the times we're subdued
Oh, what a world with no space to be found

But even if the world is like ending
Probably we won't change it right now
So I guess there's no use in pretending
I feel fine and don't have the same doubts

So how should we proceed
What is it what we need
What was taken from me
And why can't I name it now

They've stolen what once was free
To sell it back for a fee
Guess I should let it be

But I have a hard time letting go
And I feel it's fair just to let you know
It hurts less to forgive what you can't control

And some times that feels like a lot to ask

But like all the other times this will pass

Just be nice to yourself like YAS!

I know that this got out of hand

But we can't do shit so just relax

The limit was never the goal, no

Inevitable was the fall, y'know?

You're not out here alone though just know

This isn't over

Heh