

Everything Apart

Foxwarren

Everything apart from me
Belongs to someone else
You know I'll find someone who can
You know I'll find someone who can
Everything apart from me
Belongs to someone else
You know I'll find someone who can
You know I'll find someone who can

Everything would be exactly according to plan
If I could find someone who can
If I could find someone who can
Everything would be exactly according to plan
If I could find someone who can
If I could find someone who can

Keep it all away
Keep it all away
Let it fall in pieces

All the things I want to say
And all the things I don't
Are always fighting to the front
They're always fighting to the front
All the things I want to say
And all the things I don't
Are always fighting to the front
They're always fighting to the front

Keep it all away
Keep it all away
Let it fall in pieces

Everything apart from me
Belongs to someone else
You know I'll find someone who can
You know I'll find someone who can
Everything apart from me
Belongs to someone else
You know I'll find someone who can
You know I'll find someone who can
All the things I want to say
And all the things I don't
Are always fighting to the front
They're always fighting to the front
All the things I want to say
And all the things I don't
Are always fighting to the front
They're always fighting to the front

Keep it all away
Keep it all away
Let it fall in pieces