

System

Foy Vance

She said life's like trying to land an airplane
When you're circling the eye inside a hurricane
It's hard to keep your confidence
You're only safe as your safest friend

Sometimes life with me is more like aquaplaning
Just hoping that the rubber grips the road again
When you can't rely on your safest friend
Well, you're only safe as your best defence

What she needs is a system

She loves life endlessly in soliloquy
Always lost in thought and never much to say
When you can't rely on your best defense
You're only safe as your common sense

What she needs is a system
What she needs is a system
What she needs is a system

We stopped on the One though we had time to make
Watched the sun descend and daylight fade away
You said, "I wish the sunset would never end
You know sometimes, daddy, you're my only friend"

What she needs is a system
What she needs is a system
What she needs is a system
What she needs is a system
What she needs is a system
