Do Nothing

Fractures

I can see myself in future tense, my future formed
I can see myself aligned
There's an alternate reflection I can not ignore
I can't help but think it's mine

I continue to be pulled in one direction
Have no sense of where it leads
There's a silence and it fucks with my intentions
Question what I believe

In my mind repeating, the moments they come they're gone
Catch the light and keep it as long as you can

Just hear me out, because I need it
Please hear me now, I can't help thinking
About my honour, and all that's missing
Just hear me out, just help me fix it

Some miracle, I pray to a higher power
Give me some relief, I think I see further
All I feel's uncertain of where I'll be

What does it mean, was I to fall apart
I'm just afraid I can't keep, on wondering, I need something

Just hear me out, because I need it
Please hear me now, I can't help thinking
About my honour, and all that's missing
Just hear me out, just help me fix it

Just hear me out, because I need it
Please hear me now, I can't help thinking
About my honour, and all that's missing
Just hear me out, just help me fix it

Just hear me out, because I need it
Please hear me now, I can't help thinking
About my honour, and all that's missing
Just hear me out, just help me fix it
