Fractures

You're beautiful, is that weird to say
Forgive me for being forward
Your hand brushes my shoulder
And the colours change
We're suitable, what's your name

What we need is temporary
Nobody wants to be broken-hearted
So much easier, to love and leave
Don't leave a trace

Stop the conversation, we don't need to waste, know this all will end
Why don't I just say it, I want you to stay, and we can still be friends

Guess I figured we could get our fix, you can have my body
Rendezvous and then be done with it, was never meant to last, with somebody

So here we are, a brand-new day, forgot our promises
It's such a foreign concept, a breach in the shell, surprising ourselves

Momentary, never gone this long
(One more taste, another day)
We're not worried, some things can't be stopped
Embrace the change

Guess I figured we could get our fix, you can have my body
Rendezvous and then be done with it, was never meant to last, with somebody
You changed my mind, I set aside the notion we're just playing
Rendezvous and then be done with it, was never meant to last, with somebody

Guess I figured we could get our fix, you can have my body
Rendezvous and then be done with it, was never meant to last, with somebody
You changed my mind, I set aside the notion we're just playing
Rendezvous and then be done with it, was never meant to last, with somebody
