

Noise

Fractures

I won't desert the right I have to reason
I know like most you won't recall your fault
I begged you stay, I crawled
I quaked, to fall for seasons
To think the days I've lost
I shaped a world to lose

Fooled into love, unsewn
To pull apart, to throw a hearts away
Couldn't have known, so long
It's not a part, you can sew back up again

I don't fall for much, I follow form and patterns
To think some hollow touch could throw my self control
And I don't look for love
Been getting out of practise
And I conceded trust
I conceded

Pulled along by the length of it
Dumb and stoned from infatuation
Nothing gained means nothing spent
Not so sure you did so gracefully
I've been waiting on recompense
Stung and swollen beyond what's facing me
You would sooner have me guess

Fooled into love, unsewn
To pull apart, to throw a hearts away
Couldn't have known, so long
It's not a part, you can sew back up again

You are all I see
You are all I see
You are all I see
You were festering

You are all I see
You are all I see
You are all I see
You were festering

You are all I see
You are all I see
You are all I see
You were festering

You are all I see
You are all I see
You are all I see
You were festering

Fooled into love, unsewn
To pull apart, to throw a hearts away
Couldn't have known, so long
