

Secret

Fractures

Am I not awake, cause I don't feel anything
I'm stuck in the in between, but I just want to feel safe
It was so strange, I had the strangest dream
I found a world without colour, in my reflection my face had changed
I'm metaphysical, it doesn't matter nothing can be saved
No longer linear, it's familiar with different shapes

Follow, let me feel the light for the first time
I don't recognise who I am
Set me free from secrets, want no implications
Never end this dream that I'm in

Start it again, some other reality
Give me zero gravity
Cause I don't want to feel weight, this weight
The walls are shifting, desaturated skies
Views from a distance, it keeps on zooming out
So where am I, never mind

Follow, let me feel the light for the first time
I don't recognise who I am
Set me free from secrets, want no implications
Never end this dream that I'm in

You will never find me, I don't live here anymore
I just start to find it too familiar
You don't have to worry, I don't exist in your world
If you could see what I see, You would leave it, believe me

Follow, let me feel the light for the first time
I don't recognise who I am
Set me free from secrets, want no implications
Never end this dream that I'm in