

Sweet Release

Fractures

Light comes through a crack in the curtain
So I guess I'm staying up now
Travel back to every moment I've lived
Someone turn the lights out

I've been dealing with a lot of this lately
Turns out there's some stuff that I won't face yet
And I'm missing sleep, my mind keeps racing
And I can't find an out

I just want peace in me
Give me that sweet release
I just want peace in me
Give me relief, oh please

Shadows on the wall
There's a streetlight somewhere playing games with my mind
Tell me rise above it but I could never, I just want to be fine
Cause people say they are but I know better
You see my problem is I can't forget it
And it's invisible but it won't let up
Do you believe me now

I just want peace in me
Give me that sweet release
I just want peace in me
Give me relief, oh please
