

Bittersweet Sundown

Framing Hanley

I've scribbled out my view on faith
And waiting until timing's right
I've sat and pondered on this for days and days and nights and nights and
I've never been the best with lines
I've got 17 pantomimes
That give away the words I say are nothing that you should believe ...

And all we are
Is a bittersweet sundown
A little bit love and a little bit letdown
I can't keep you around
I can't keep you around
In this bittersweet sundown

I've had a lot of time to think
About where this all went south
I wanted you less and less until none and done and now We're all sold out
You can tell me we'll be just fine
Quentin says you've got 20 pantomimes
That give away my first mistake was not convincing you to believe ...

That all we are
Is a bittersweet sundown
A little bit love and a little bit letdown
I can't keep you around
I can't keep you around
In this bittersweet sundown

Trust me when I say
You'd make all the same mistakes
And every promise would be made to break
You'd make all the same mistakes
If you knew that you could away
I'd let you get away

And all we are
Is a bittersweet sundown
You gave me every bit of your heart
And I'm the one that let you down
I can't keep you around ... can't keep you around
In this bittersweet sundown

We're a bittersweet sundown
We're a bittersweet memory now
