

Everything in Between

Frances

How do I feel in the background
What's in my head when I lay down
I don't really know, it comes and then it goes
You don't even know

Laying there sweet as sunshine
Making a halo with the morning light
It wasn't goodbye, it's not in my mind

But right now the lines are blurry
I don't know the difference between being alone and lonely
They're feeling just the same
And right now the winds are changing
And I can't tell the difference between needing someone to hold me
And loving you again

Oh I go to and froe
Yes and no and everything in between
Oh, everything in between

No one said love was this hard
Falling was the easiest part
But who am I now, got lost somehow
Finding my way out

And fast and lightning you come running
Crashing into me, then I beg you don't leave

But right now the lines are blurry
I don't know the difference between being alone and lonely
They're feeling just the same
And right now the winds are changing
And I can't tell the difference between needing someone to hold me
And loving you again

Oh I go to and froe
Yes and no and everything in between
Oh, everything in between

But right now the lines are blurry
I don't know the difference between being alone and lonely
They're feeling just the same
Oh, right now the winds are changing
And I can't tell the difference between needing someone to hold me
And loving you again

Oh I go to and froe
Yes and no and everything in between
Oh, everything in between
