

Just The Same

Francesca Battistelli

In the daylight, in the blue sky
When my world is right
I trust you
When the good road, is all that I know
When you feel so close
I trust you,
But that's not always right

When I can't climb the mountain
That stands in front of me
When I can't cross the ocean
Afraid that I might sink
Still you have never changed
So I'll trust you just the same

There are seasons, there are reasons
That I won't understand
But I trust you
'Cause you are faithful, always able
It's all at your command
So I trust you, God with all my life

Every step, every breath
All my life in your hands