

Serious Curious

Frank Black

And a river joined a river
And the rivers spilled into the sea
And their waves broke
And then there was just
Just only you and me

Will my part sustain if I can't do
I'm coming 'round again in the deep blue
And the gulls shriek, hey!

From the high plane came this mighty roar
From the low plane I went down to the shore
You said "I've been waiting for you" and you said it again

When the god came, I was in love too
And then there's you

Ah, you're so serious as you're laughing at us
And he is so mysterious with his heavenly status
And I was just curious

Will his part sustain if he can't do
He's coming 'round again in your deep blue
And then there's you

You're so serious as you're squeezing the sand
He is so mysterious with his heavenly band
And I'm delirious, I can't even think straight
And I was just curious, this was so unplanned
And I was just curious
I was just curious

And a river joined a river
And the rivers spilled into the sea
And a river joined a river
And the rivers spilled into the sea
And a river joined a river
And the rivers spilled into the sea
And a river joined a river
And the rivers spilled into the sea
And a river joined a river
And the rivers spilled into the sea
And a river joined a river
And the rivers spilled into the sea
And a river joined a river
And the rivers spilled into the sea
And a river joined a river
And the rivers spilled into the sea
And a river