

I thought I was clever
Thought I'd live forever
Didn't think I could be wrong
I hold it together

Guess I wasn't made that strong

You know I wished that day will never come
But if it's arrived then well it's been fun
We got regrets like oceans got waves

Promise me to wait
I'll be there one day
Promise me you'll wait

You could always hide it
But I live like a riot
Someone somewhere taught me how
You said there's a lesson
They had every second
I wish that you could teach me now

'Cause I'll have to walk, every mount'
Knowing I'd miss your very last smile
Your love is a debt I'll never replace

Promise me to wait
I'll be there one day
I've got so much to say
But I'll say it to your face
To your, to your face

Deep as the ocean, currents so strong
I hope you know that you were my home
Above the mountains where you belong
I wish you knew before you were gone

Deep as the ocean, currents so strong
I hope you know that you were my home
Above the mountains where you belong
I wish you knew
Before you were gone
Before you were gone

Promise me to wait
I'll be there one day
I've got so much to say
But I'll say it to your face
To your, to your face
To your, to your face
To your, to your face
To your, to your face
To your, to your face
To your, to your face
