You hold my remedy
I'll give you the stars over the sea
Found the start to love you endlessly
You paint all the color into me

You're like no one else I've know
You make my love still grow
Girl, I'll give you my last breath
In this heartbeat from my chest

I never thought that it would come to this
When life depended on a person's care
I stand before you on the [?], only you make sense
Even if galaxies collide, you'll be there by my side

We should disappear forever now
We should disappear forever
