

Seven Shells

Fred Eaglesmith

Whenever i walk into the street

And i see you standing there

With your back to the wall

And your eyes on me

I just stare and stare

And I feel like I'm living in a western movie

That's only just begun

And I've got seven shells in my six gun

I'm wilder and bluer and yonderer

Now that you're with me

And there's a tin star on my chest

Where my heart used to be

And even when it's high noon baby

My back's to the sun

And I've got seven shells in my six gun

And I've got seven shells in my six gun

You're trouble baby

And There ain't no doubt

The kind of trouble

I can live without

But I want to stay

By your side

As long as I'm alive

The daylight's stronger

And the shadows are longer
Ever since I've found you
And I feel like I'm ten feet tall
And there's nothing I can't do

And don't worry baby when things get crazy
Cause I won't turn and run
I've got seven shells in my six gun
And I've got seven shells in my six gun
