

Just Because It's Soap Doesn't Mean It's Clean

Frenzal Rhomb

When I was 11 I pretended I was sick
To avoid the shining stars and all their hidden violent tricks
I still don't believe anything I read
Just because it's soap...
I never had to suffer at the hands of chosen ones
To confront the load Samaritan who made the children run
I've never had to get down on my knees
Just because it's soap doesn't mean it's clean
One night I had to walk the corridors covered in blood

Things on in the cubicle cause now I understood
Eleven bucks a night not worth the scene
Just because it's soap doesn't mean it's clean
I was arrested at 15 again at 21
Add one more humiliation from those violent f*cks with guns
Careful not to let the bruises bleed
Just because it's soap doesn't mean it's clean
