

Million

Frenzal Rhomb

I know you're wanting things to change
Why can't you see that they're just the same
We could be so strong if we tried
Why can't you just see the other side

'Cause, there must be a million
There must be a million
There must be a million ways to try

Why can't we talk about what went wrong
When you're face to face to a uniform
I don't have to trust what you believe
It's not that difficult to see

That, there must be a million
There must be a million
There must be a million ways to try

Oh yeah

Why can't we talk about what went wrong
When you're face to face to a uniform
I don't have to trust what you believe
It's not that difficult to see

That, there must be a million
There must be a million
There must be a million ways to try

Now, there must be a million, million, million, million
There must be a million ways to try
