

I Feel The Same

From Indian Lakes

I want to wade into the other side
Your hands are warm they make me feel alright
I see the surface up above our heads
You drift away and I'm alone again

I feel the same

When I'm alone under the yellow lights
I see you sinking in your room at night
I want to linger in the haziness
I'm overtaken, I can't handle it

I feel the same
Waves carry me away from your body
I can't wait till you're ready to move on

My vision's blurry, I can make you out
Your lips are moving but you're fading now
And when I reach into the water I can see myself
I'm slowly changing into someone else

I feel the same
Waves carry me away from your body
I can't wait till you're ready to move on
I feel the same
Waves carry me away from your body
I can't wait till you're ready to move on

I feel the same
Waves carry me away from your body
I can't wait till you're ready to move on
I feel the same
Waves carry me away from your body
I can't wait till you're ready to move on
I feel the same
Waves carry me away from your body
I can't wait till you're ready to move on
I feel the same
Waves carry me away from your body
I can't wait till you're ready to move on

My vision's blurry, I can make you out
Your lips are moving but you're fading now
And when I reach into the water I can see myself
I'm slowly changing into someone else

I feel the same
