

Bad Parts

Front Porch Step

Please don't look me in my eyes
I'm so scared of what you'll see
Please don't pull off my disguise
I'm not what you think of me
Please don't touch my hand like that
I know we've both been hurt before
But the way you kiss me on the cheek
Makes my fortress become weak
And I'm so scared you'll hurt me more

But I don't care about your bad parts
'Cause everybody's hard to take
But cuss me out under your morning breath
And ill still love you just the same

But please don't walk back through that door
I won't open it this time
You come and go just as you please, 'cause you think that I won't leave
You can't keep kissing me goodbye

But I don't care about your bad parts
'Cause everybody's hard to take
But you only want me when I'm at my best
I wanted you through everything

I didn't buy that wedding ring
But I just had to write this song
You know I'd marry you today, but you chose to walk away
And darling that don't make you wrong
So please don't hang your head like that Someday we'll both be with no tears
I'm not mad because you left
It just hurts that you're not here

It's not a sin that you don't want me
It's not a sin that you don't care
It's not a sin that you're so lovely, that these eyes inside my head
Can't find a sight that quite compares
But I pray to God a man could come along
See you the way that my eyes do
I pray he loves despite the bad parts
I pray that you could love him too
