

To Infinity

Frozen Crown

Since the time and the innocence
We've lost, won't return
We will ride through the echo of night and beyond

History will not repeat itself, just stay with me
As long as you remit we'll find them on the way
The answers that you craved for long
And we will shine again like fallen stars
The songs of Wintergaze are calling us
Don't be afraid about the shadows of today
As we won't see the maze again

Falling from grace we hide
Staring at the world while it's sleeping
Fading from the sky as we're speaking

When we'll return to dust
We will find if we had struggled enough
Can't you see?

Since the time and the innocence
We've lost, won't return
We will ride through the echo of night
And beyond
With these scars as our legacy
Through the stars to infinity
As we rise from the ashes, reborn

All our faults, they were forgotten with a lullaby
It's time to free you out from all the things you said
And search for what you craved for long
As we are below the city of the fallen gods
Forget the visions of the fathers and their graves
And blow the past away again
Can't you feel?