

Condense

Frozen Plasma

You go while I stay
Watching the world turn inside out
Give me one last day
This last chance to say goodbye

I know you don't play
Saying it's my fault everytime
This is no hearsay
The truth smells so sweet at night

The trace remains
A contrail in the sky

Let your rain fall down
Let your tempest fly
Let these clouds explode
And set the wheels on fire

I will trace you down
I can see your tears
I must change my mind
To give my life a meaning in the end

You always wanted
A fascinating way of life
Look what you've got now
I'm catching your dreams in return

The trace remains
A contrail in the sky

Let your rain fall down
Let your tempest fly
Let these clouds explode
And set the wheels on fire

I will trace you down
I can see your tears
I must change my mind
To give my life a meaning in the end

In the end