With her there comes a hunger Believing any minute all could break She's looking out for something unknown That could never be replaced

In a world consumed by madness
A world where I can barely breathe

Forsaken beauty lies again
These empty arms embrace what's come undone
A life together torn apart by halos of the son

The loss becomes the lover
The emptiness becomes my everything
I taste her in the air
Feel her everywhere
I don't know how I'll ever feel sane again

In a world consumed by madness A world where no one hears you screams

Forsaken beauty lies again These empty arms embrace what's come undone A life together torn apart by halos of the son (4x)

Yeah, yeah