

Life In General (Lewe In Algemeen)

Fun Boy Three

The man in the North
Has set his course
To do the things that benefits him
For health and fun
He ventures forth
With an access card and a Ford Capri

The man in between
Can choose his scene
His boots in the North
His roots in the South
Head in the clouds
His feet on the ground
He sits on the fence while the earth spins round

North, South, East, West
Extend your hand get what you can
This is a game they call survive
The North got the money, and the South deprived
North, South, East and West
We can run but we can't hide
Run to where the money flows
That's life in general, I suppose

The man in the South won't open his mouth
'Cause nobody listens to what comes out
The rice and the tractors, the tents will come
When another builder makes another pound

North, South, East, West
