

It Don't Take A Lot

Futuristic

Every single day you gotta wake up and make the choice
Choose to be happy, always

It don't take a lot to be happy, do what you got
It don't take a lot to be happy, happy
It don't take a lot to be happy, do what you got
It don't take a lot to be happy, happy yeah

Why you out here chasing what you see? you don't need
She say "Why you can't just trust in you and me, omg"
Social media ain't really what it seems, make believe
Beauty nowadays is bought and not received, a disease
In your DNA it says that you're a queen, there's no need
To be living on your screen like a fiend, I'm a king
I know I was meant for rings for the team, it's a chip
Love yours, listen when the homies sing, ain't no thing
As a life that's better (nah)
You gotta keep it separate (true)
You gotta count the blessings (that's real)
You gotta spread the message (I do)
You gotta not be desperate (yeah)
For all the attention (never)
And care more about your family than you do your mansions (pls)
And you do your likes, follows in your foolish pride
And turn the ego, now all you listen to is your own advice
Make decisions living the moment but never know the price
You amplify depression for sabotaging your broken life
People doubted you from the jump you thinking they gon' be right
And stay be Kobe Bryant, [?] take game a whole new heights
And show your lie, ignore the boats, [?] hype
And blowing dope for trophies the hope for people they lost the ir sight
Look, you don't need a Lamborghini for the drive
You don't need a mansion out in West Cansas for you to thrive
Ungrateful live, to break all them habits it takes some time
I'm breaking mine, 'cause I chose to be happy inside for real

It don't take a lot to be happy, do what you got
It don't take a lot to be happy, happy
It don't take a lot to be happy, do what you got
It don't take a lot to be happy, happy yeah
