(I need some)
Things that I want in my life now
I own so many things
But I have even more to lose
(I need some)
A big house, super car, money, honor, girls
Yeah, a ghetto super star
(Self-made; built my own home and fortune)

The art that fills the walls of my room
The galleria in my home
The Seoul garden is my garden
Feel free to visit comfortably
The Mille that sits lightly on my wrist
Where's Wally? Here's Billi'
Skinny for a guy
Besides one, the rest all dig me

I'm just livin' like I used to
My childhood wish
Even though I'm now living
Like the people I used to see on TV
I'm sad for some reason
The loneliness lingers
A part of my heart is empty

I need somebody
I ain't got nobody
I need somebody
Any god damn body
(Hello?)
I need somebody
I ain't got nobody
(There's nobody)
I need somebody
Any god damn Body
(Hello?)

(I need some)
Petrus Latour Margaux
Conti Jayer
I obsess over 1988 vintage
(I need some)
Friends who are the same age as me
Instead I pour my own glass and drink by myself

I work, I produce songs
And film lined-up commercials
I tour the world
(I need some)
I know that your words are right
I'm full, yes
I'm tired, I am
Today, tomorrow, everyday is filled with work
But if there wasn't anything tomorrow it'd be strange
(I wouldn't want to be out of work)

I'm just livin' like I used to
My childhood dream job
Even though I'm now living
Like the people I used to see on TV
I choke and tear up for no reason

The sadness lingers
A part of my heart is empty

I need somebody
I ain't got nobody
I need somebody
Any god damn body
(Hello?)
I need somebody
I ain't got nobody
(There's nobody)
I need somebody
Any god damn body
(Hello?)

Hello, is anyone there?
(Hello?)
No one answers
I say "hey" and "what's up" to myself
(Hello?)
I'm not alone, no I'm not
Good job, be nice, be admirable
Softly, softly come on over here
Don't cry, why are you crying?
Why are we both crying?
(I need some)
Ask the stars, ask them
(Meow meow meow)
You're being tinged by the moonlight, hide

I need somebody
I ain't got nobody
I need somebody
Any god damn body, hello
I need somebody
I ain't got nobody
I need somebody
Any god damn body, hello
