

Good Days Bad Days

Gabrielle Aplin

I'm hungover again
I went out with my friends
They said it be fine to get out my mind
Now I'm stuck in my bed
Gonna bail on my plans
So I can sit here and cry
And think the time in 2009
When I said the wrong thing
But I

Remind myself that it's okay
You can't feel the love without the pain

Here's to the good days, to the bad days
To the break ups and the birthdays
Here's to the best days, to the worst days
'Cause I know that I'll be okay
Here's to the good days, to the bad days
To the mistakes and the first dates
Here's to the best days, to the worst days
'Cause I know that I'll be okay

When I look on my phone
I can feel so alone
Start convincing myself that everyone else
Is doing better me
'Cause I turned 23
Still don't have a Grammy
Everything that I got doesn't feel like a lot
When I'm not happy
But

I tell myself that it's okay
You can't feel the sun without the pain

Here's to the good days, to the bad days
To the break ups and the birthdays
Here's to the best days, to the worst days
'Cause I know that I'll be okay
Here's to the good days, to the bad days
To the mistakes and the first dates
Here's to the best days, to the worst days
'Cause I know that I'll be okay

I'll be okay
I'll be okay
I'll be okay
'Cause I know that I'll be okay

I tell myself that it's okay
Can't feel the sun without the rain
And darker nights make brighter days
You can't feel the love without the pain, oh

Here's to the good days, to the bad days
To the break ups and the birthdays
Here's to the best days, to the worst days

'Cause I know that I'll be okay
Here's to the good days, to the bad days
To the mistakes and the first dates
Here's to the best days, to the worst days
'Cause I know that I'll be okay

I'll be okay
I'll be okay
I'll be okay
'Cause I know that I'll be okay
I'll be okay
I'll be okay
I'll be okay
'Cause I know that I'll be okay
