

Not Your Problem

Gabrielle Aplin

You only reach for my shoulder
When your heart is broken
But you'll never notice that I'm here at all
You only come to me when something's wrong
But you never ask me what I need
And now I see the that what I want
It's just the last breath of a dream

But I won't be your problem anymore
I won't be your problem anymore
And you won't feel me fade away
I won't be your problem anymore

I used to like when you cried
At least you'd give me your time
And I'd be smiling inside because you needed me
Cause I've been pulling you along
To some place you don't wanna be
And now I see that what I want
It's just the last breath of a dream

But I won't be your problem anymore
I won't be your problem anymore
And you won't feel me fade away
I won't be your problem anymore

And if I lay my roots to deep
I won't have the strength to leave
And you keep falling back on me
And I'll just keep falling, I'll just keep falling

But I won't be your problem anymore
I won't be your problem anymore
I won't be your problem anymore
I won't be your problem anymore
And you won't feel me fade away
And I won't be your problem anymore

I won't be your problem anymore
