

Take a Minute

Gabrielle

All your life you've been running away
I think it's time to start again, turn a new page
We know that you won't, that you won't
How many times can we make the same mistake
Maybe it's time, time to pick a new page
But no, say you'll change, let you down

[?] admit it
You don't have to lie
But I don't understand what it is
You're tryna hide

Take a minute, take a good look at yourself
When you gonna stop blaming someone else
Take a minute, look who's staring back at you
Don't think you like it but it's time to face the truth

For the first time show me
You can really own me

When I'm talking you don't hear a word I say
I'm getting nothing [?]
I could stay but I won't, yeah we both know I won't

[?] admit it
You don't have to lie
But I don't understand what it is
You're tryna hide

Take a minute, take a good look at yourself
When you gonna stop blaming someone else
Take a minute, look who's staring back at you
Don't think you like it but it's time to face the truth

For the first time show me
You can really own me

Take a minute, take a good look at yourself
Ain't it time to stop blaming someone else
Take a minute, look who's staring back at you
Don't think you like it but it's time to face the truth

Take a minute, take a good look at yourself
When you gonna stop blaming someone else
Take a minute, look who's staring back at you
Don't think you like it but it's time to face the truth

For the first time show me
You can really own me