

Lie There

Gabz

I'll just, take my heart and let go of your hand and
Bury it right in the sand and just lie there
Just lie there, just lie there

Been here a couple times before, for sure
But someone always ends up walking out the door
It feels like love will never work out
It feels like I always end up getting let down, now
I always end up back where I started at the start
And I wish we hadn't parted cos you've broken my heart
Again, and we're friends, in the end, like the trend
But I meet someone else and it starts over again

I'll just, take my heart and let go of your hand and
Bury it right in the sand and just lie there
Just lie there, just lie there
I'll just get a box and lock away my tears and
Watch the memories disappear and just lie there
Just lie there, just lie there

After that I say I'll never fall in love again
We meet and promise that we'll just be friends
We decide to get together and I think you're the one
Then you shoot through my heart like a laser gun
Now I think I've fallen for that, for the last time
So I'll forget about the boys and just stick to the rhymes
Again, and we're friends, in the end, like the trend
But I meet someone else and it starts over again

Kick the fears right out of my head and
Stop crying into my bed and just lie there
Just lie there, just lie there
Here we go again

I'll just, take my heart and let go of your hand and
Bury it right in the sand and just lie there
I'll just get a box and lock away my tears and
Watch the memories disappear and just lie there
Just lie there, just lie there
I'll just, take my heart and let go of your hand and
Bury it right in the sand and just lie there
Just lie there, just lie there

Been here a couple times before, for sure
But someone always ends up walking out the door
It feels like love will never work out
It feels like I always end up getting let down, now
I always end up back where I started at the start
And I wish we hadn't parted cos you've broken my heart
Again, and we're friends, in the end, like the trend
But I meet someone else and it starts over again