

Electric

Gareth Gates

Her cigarette butt blocked my path
I didn't smoke but she thought she'd ask
She said 'Baby can I light you up?'
I sed lets quit this crowded bar
And stand outside under the stars
But it was dark and the sky was heavy
'Cause we're electric and we're electric
And when the storm comes

There'll be lightning, rain and sky
'Cos we're electric and we're electric
And when the thunder comes
Gareth Gates Electric Lyrics
There'll be nowhere left to hide
Her cigarette butt came undone
She said 'just take my hand let me be the one to help you
Oh to find your shelter'
I held her back and she ran inside

I said 'you won't feel if you never try to stand
Outside when the sky is crying'
'Cause we're electric and we're electric
And when the storm comes
There'll be lightning, rain and sky
You spend electric
And when you electric
And when the thunder comes
Then summer's gone
And our moments come

Until the star beams come
We'll stand out, we'll stand out under the stars
'Cause we're electric and we're electric
And when the storm comes
There'll be lightning, rain and sky
You spend electric
And when you electric
And when the thunder comes
