

Hearts In Retrograde

Gary Clark Jr.

Uh, I'll give you something you can cry about
Those tears fall like rain
I give you something you care much about
You wouldn't know your place
I give you something you can fight about

Somebody better come quick, sit me down and shut me up
Before it's just too late

I'm telling you, everybody
I'm telling you
They push and pull but there's no follow through
Keep waiting but it still don't change
We know that it's not too late
Keep thinking but it just won't break
My heart's still in retrograde

I keep doing what I wanna do
Like nobody else around
Fell out of fashion with myself today
Who am I to judge, what am I to say?
I hate to break it but it's over now

Somebody better come quick, sit me down and shut me up
Before it's just too late

I'm telling you, everybody
I'm telling you
They push and pull but there's no follow through
Keep waiting but it still don't change
We know that it's not too late
Keep thinking but it just won't break
My heart's still in retrograde

So keep doing as you damn well please
You stoked the fire in the belly of the beast
Won't take too much, don't break it
Won't say too much, don't waste it
Ask not, but you got got, huh
You got hot but the others should've dropped
Keep your eyes shut 'til we feel no pain

I'm telling you, everybody
I'm telling you
They push and pull but there's no follow through
Keep waiting but it still don't change
We know that it's not too late
Keep thinking but it just won't break
My heart's still in retrograde
