

Crying Sound

Gary Go

Don't want to burst the bubble, I don't want to break the spell
I know, you know, I know you well
That your heart fell down the wishing well
If I could break it down to make you really understand
I'm fighting with my writing hand
I know it's not the way we planned

In darkness and light
Love is blind but can still cry
Even with sight
Love is blind but can still cry

Your crying sound
Quieting your crying sound

How I wish that we could cut it out the memory line
But it's woven deep into this mind of mine
And it will live there til the end of time
And we'll look back on this from the edge of evergreen
When we step off the big machine
The sadness will seem like a dream
Like a dream

Oh I wish I could find the words
To stop your tears rolling down to the ground
I'd do anything to carry the hurt
Quieting your crying sound
Oh I wish I could gather the dirt
To fill up the holes in the ground
I'd do anything to bury the worst
Quieting your crying sound

In darkness and light
Love is blind but can still cry
Even with sight
Love is blind but can still cry

And when you're so low it's like everything is hopeless
And the people you counted on as your friends are fucking phonies
Yeah, you can -
Call me

Oh I wish I could find the words
To stop your tears rolling down to the ground
Quieting your crying sound
