

Voodoo Woman

Gary Lewis & The Playboys

You make a rose afraid to grow
You make the wind forget to blow
You make the sun up in the sky forget to shine
And you are driving me out of my mind, now

You make a bell forget to ring
You make the birds forget to sing
You make a weepin' willow tree forget to cry
And you can drive that trouble from the sky, now

You're a voodoo woman
That's plain to see
You're a voodoo woman
So, stay away from me

You make a dog forget to growl
You make the wind forget to howl
And voodoo woman, you break every heart you see
So, voodoo woman, stay away from me

(Voodoo, voodoo)

You're a voodoo woman
That's plain to see
You're a voodoo woman
So, stay away from me

You make a dog forget to growl
You make the wind forget to howl
And voodoo woman, you break every heart you see
So, voodoo woman, stay away from me
